Excerpt from France Facing Germany: Speeches and Articles Georges Clemenceau
France facing Germany! My friends Louis Lumet and Jean Martet have brought together, under this title, a series of speeches and articles, sometimes condensed for the sake of avoiding digressions, upon the origin of the present war as well as upon the progress of hostilities. The reader will understand, I hope, the emotions and the ideas with which a patriotic Frenchman must needs be animated by the vicissitudes of the deadly encounters in which law and justice, and the honor and the very life of the homeland are at stake. Is it not presumptuous to besiege the public, in these terrible days, with writings which were never meant to survive, and which arrested attention only by their straightforward sincerity? But I have permitted myself to be persuaded that there may be matters still of interest in them, on account of the importance and the universality of the principles involved as well as of the results of the conflict. These thoughts have prevailed upon me to bring out in book form a series of disconnected opinions on the roles of France and Germany in this stupendous clash of human powers. Imperfections of coordination, in such a work, cannot be avoided. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
